

You've been an important part of the team as our team secretary. Thanks to you, the team has been able to stay organized, and that saved us time and prevented miscommunication. At the same time, your contributions for the project have effectively moved the project forward, so your effort brought us closer to our goals. your ability to balance these responsibilities is very valuable to the team. However, for in the future I would suggest not stressing too much over deadlines, that way you will feel more relaxed and approach things with clearer mind.